If you received this e-mail in error, any review, use, dissemination, distribution, or copying of this e-mail is strictly prohibited. Please be advised that Nielsen Merksamer does not provide any investment or investment advisory services with respect to client fund balances. Client fund balances are held at the Bank of Marin, an FDIC-insured bank, unless directed by the client to be held with another financial institution. The federal deposit insurance limit is $250,000 per federal tax identification number, per banking institution. This limit applies regardless of whether funds are in interest bearing accounts or in non-interest bearing accounts. This means that any funds in a federally insured bank in excess of the $250,000 limit may be at risk in the event that a bank fails. Nielsen Merksamer does not guarantee the solvency of Bank of Marin. For additional information: <http://www.fdic.gov/dposit/ddeposits/> Client fund balances are not invested on behalf of the client, and earn no investment income (other than, in some cases, minimal interest). Our clients are responsible for investment and banking decisions of all funds we administer on their behalf. Nielsen Merksamer advises that you should carefully review your account balances and notify us if you have questions. Should you wish to have your fund balances held with another financial institution, or to have those funds professionally invested, you must provide Nielsen Merksamer specific instructions in writing.
